Who are we?

Susquehanna is a global quantitative trading firm founded with a growth mindset and an analytical approach to decision making. As one of the largest proprietary trading firms in the world, we improve the financial markets by providing liquidity and ensuring competitive prices for buyers and sellers. We bring together the brightest minds, the best technology, and the most expansive library of data in the industry to design and implement quantitative trading strategies that make us leaders in the financial markets. Beyond trading, Susquehanna is active in global private equity, structured capital, and institutional brokerage.

Graduate + Internship Opportunities

At Susquehanna, you will learn from the brightest minds in the industry. You will be continuously challenged to solve some of the most complex problems in the financial markets. We have exciting opportunities for students on our Quantitative Trader Programme, Trading Operations, Technology and Equity Research Programmes. We offer internships and graduate programmes, which provide a unique opportunity for you to gain an insight into trading on international exchanges.
